JAMES BEN ALI HAGGIN

When James Ben Ali Haggin died last night Kentucky lost one of her most notable, and doubtless her wealthiest, citizen, and Lexington and Fayette county were deprived of a friend who had done much for their material advancement.

Mr. Haggin was probably the last of that coterie of strong men who invaded California in '49 and '50 and made that State famous the world over. He accumulated large means while practicing law and later devoted his extraordinary abilities in the development of mining properties. In this he was extremely successful. Subsequently he became in terested in farming and stockraising and gave to the turf some of its most notable performers.

About 1886 Mr. Haggin bought the now widely known Elmendorf Farm, six miles from Lexington, and added to it from time to time other large tracts until it became one of the finest estates in the country.

In Elmendorf Mr. Haggin seemed to take a peculiar pride. Under his direction it became not only a delight to the eye, but of great benefit and value to the farming and breeding interests of Central Kentucky, as he spared neither labor nor expense in procuring everything that was best in this country and abroad in the furtherance of his ambitions to make Elmendorf Farm a model of its kind,

Naturally, a man who had reached Mr. Haggin's advanced age could not but look forward to dissolution at any time, and yet the news of his death will be a shock to his friends everywhere and especially to the hundreds of persons who had cause to be grateful to him either for individual acts of kindness of for opportunity which came through him for personal advancement. Certainly the people of Lexington and Fayette county wifl ever hold his name in grateful remembrance.-Lex ington Leader,

CLEVELAND AND WILSON

When Grover Cleveland was President the country was forced to submit to the sale of bonds to meet treasury deficiencies and now comes along the only Democratic President since Cleveland's time asking that taxes be levied upon the people of the United States to meet treasury deficiencies. Such is Democracy. If the war has had so much to do with the reduction of custom receipts, why does not the government do like corporations and individuals when they find their revenues curtailed namely, cut down expenses?-Telegram, Clarksburg, W. Va.

THE LOST BAGGAGE

It is estimated by express and steamship agents that probably 100,000 pieces of damaged baggage They Are Closely Observing Public belonging to Americans are scattered in France, Gemany, Austria, Belgium and Holland. At some points, so returned tourists say, these trunks, satchels, and other belongings were piled so high that they would have made good fortifications.

Ships returning over are bringing trunks and hand baggage that were left hurriedly behind but so marked that they could be identified and cared for Both the express and steamship companies have agents at work on the Continent try ing to gather up this property, but as the European railroads have no checking system, travelers being expected to identify their own trunks on arrival at their destination, it is likely that much of it will never be recovered.

The fears of travelers who had invested in contraband goods with intent to deceive the customs office on reaching this side will be allayed on learning that the officers have been instructed to bladder remedy, claim that judging see that the returning trunks get to their owners from evidence received from druggists without regard to smuggled contents. With this everywhere, who are constantly is danger removed, consider how the owners of baggage that never does come to hand will mourn over their lost treasures! They will have a source of regret to last them the rest of their lives. And remarkably successful in sickness they sadly realize now that if they had not fallen into such a panic about getting home, and all tried to travel at once, they might have saved themselves a good deal of inconvenience and loss. The level-headed ones are now returning comfortably and with all their possessions,-Louisville Herald.

HOW THE WOMEN VOTED IN CHICAGO

Its luxurious to vote in Chicago, that is in some precincts In the recent election in the Windy City, a Chicago dispatch says:

"While the male vote was a source of disappointment, the apparent indifference of the women to the election caused nothing short of amazement to the political observers. The total vote of the women in Cook county is estimated at less than 8,000. Only one vote was cast by a woman in some precincts. It was the first general primary in which women participated as voters,

The apathy of the women developed in spite of the fact that special efforts had been made in many of the precincts in Chicago to give a feminine touch to the polling places provided for them.

Oriental earpets in the voting booths, a grand piano on which to rest the hat, a collection of oil paintings for inspection, a genial hostess and attentive servants were offered in the Thirty-thire precinct in the Third ward. Mrs. Charles H. Sergel, The amount each subscriber owes is the hostess, welcomed voters into her home, 4578 trifling, but altogether it means much Oakenwald avenue. The polling booths were in to us, her parlor. The judges and clerks occupied mahogany seats in her library.

"It doesn't make a bit more muss than a card party," said Mrs. Sergel. "It makes voting more of a ceremony and it is much more comfortable for the judges. If all the polling places could be placed in homes it would improve conditions and elections."

HANDED US SOME LEMONS

FAIR EXCHANGE.

The military maneuvered. All afternoon the attackers had attacked and the defenders defended with conspicuous lack of incident or bravery. Operations were beginning to drag horribly when the white flag went up.

The officers in command of the attackers started in

'A flag of truce!" he exclaimed, "What do they want?"

The Sergeant-Major endeavored to cover up a smile, "They say, sir," he reported, "that, as it's tea time, they'd like to exchange a couple o' privates for a car of condensed milk-if you can afford it!"

LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES

Health Conditions.

An examining physician for one of the prominent Life Insurance Companies, in an interview on the subject made the astonishing statement that one reason so many applicants for insurance are rejected is because kidney trouble is so common to the American people, and the large majority of those whose applications are declined do not even suspect that they have the disease.

According to this it would seem that medicine for the kidneys, possessing real real healing and curative properties would be a blessing to thousands.

Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghaamton, N. Y. who prepare Dr. Kilmer's Swamp Root the well known kidney, liver and touch with their customers, and also indisputable proof in the form of grateful testimonial letters from thousands of reliable citizens, this preparation is caused by kidney and bladder troubles. Every interesting statement they receive regarding Swamp-Root is investigated and no testimonial is published unless the party who sends it is reported of good character. They have on file many sworn statements of reoveries in the most distressing cases. They state that Dr. Kilmer Root is mild and gentle in its action and its healing influence is soon noticed n most cases.

Swamp-Root is purely an herbal compound and Dr. Kilmer & Co., advise all renders who feel in need of such ; remedy to give it a trial. It is on sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes -50c and $1.00. However, if you wish first to test this great preparation sex ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Bing hampton, N. WHY INDIANS ARE RED

A German doctor has evolved eer theory about the coloring of the numan race-that the tint of the skin determined by the food eaten.

Originally, he declares, the human opecies was black, because our primitive orefathers subsisted on fruits and roots ontaining manganese. The American redskins owe their color to the consumption of raw flesh. The Mongols are yellow because of their descent from a tribe which consumed great quantities of herbs rich in chloride; and the Caucasians have to thank the salt for which they have a great liking, for their dainty pink and white or delicate brunette complexions.
